

Weill Cornell Medicine

New York-Presbyterian

We are please to announce:

Diversity Visiting Student Sub-Internship Program

For 4th year medical students interested in surgery. The program will be offered to one eligible student in July of 2018.

Program Description

The Diversity Visiting Student Internship Program is a funded program designed to give students with a diverse background the experience of rotating as a surgical Intern at Weill Cornell Medicine – Department of Surgery.

Students will be assigned to a surgical team of their preference and will function in the role of a surgical intern. Students will also be required to attend all simulation, teaching, and conferences with the house staff.

Who Should Apply?

The program is open to applicants who belong to groups that are recognized as historically underrepresented in the health profession including: African American, American Indian, Alaska Native, Hispanic American and Pacific Islander. Clerkships are four weeks in duration and are available to students who can meet the requirements of Weill Cornell Medical College.

Application Requirments

Please submit two letters of recommendation, curriculum vitae, brief personal statement, USMLE scores, and medical school transcripts to Vanessa Mejia.

- Application deadline is April 15, 2018
- Housing will be provided for July 2018
- An additional $1500 stipend will be provided
- Please submit your application materials and foward any questions to: Vanessa Mejia, vam9037@med.cornell.edu

For more information and application details:

http://weill.cornell.edu/education/curriculum/fourth/electives/ove_vis_stu.html